Innocent bystanders are brutally murdered during a robbery at an after-hours club run as part of an FBI sting operation. A learning-disabled county parks employee is sexually abused by her supervisor for more than a decade. Unsuspecting children are permanently scarred by black henna tattoos advertised as temporary.

This is just a sample of the high-profile cases being handled by legal powerhouse and three-time Super Lawyer Rosemarie Arnold and her partner, Sheri A. Breen. Arnold, a certified civil trial attorney, heads what has impressively grown throughout the past two decades from a single-attorney operation to one of the largest personal injury firms in Bergen County.

Of course, with these high-profile cases comes press attention, and Arnold's vivacious personality has only hastened the path to her current status as a media darling. Her time is demanded by the television shows, newspapers and magazines for which she provides legal commentary—and which give her the opportunity to further the interests of her clients.

Another natural evolution of Arnold's burgeoning reputation was the formation last year of the Manhattan-based personal injury firm Tacopina & Arnold, in which Arnold, the hailed "courtroom bulldog," joined forces with acclaimed "legal pit-bull" Joseph Tacopina. The combination of the two heavyweights immediately propelled the new firm into the top echelon of the New York legal circuit.

So just how is the Law Offices of Rosemarie Arnold able to continue to give its signature level of attention to more than 1,000 open cases? Arnold says there is no secret to her success. "We work as a team. Our success would not be possible without Sheri Breen."

Sheri Breen, the managing partner of the 14-attorney operation, joins Arnold on the New Jersey Super Lawyers® list for 2007.

Breen brings unmatched thoroughness to the team. "Nothing gets by Sheri," Arnold says. "She's a brilliant person and an even better lawyer. She will become a fixture on the Super Lawyers list."

The formula of experience, dedication and meticulous preparation honed to perfection by Rosemarie Arnold and Sheri Breen translates into financial awards and justice for the firm's satisfied clients. Arnold and Breen get their satisfaction by proudly and prominently displaying hundreds of "thank you" notes from grateful clients in the office reception area. Sprinkled among them are dozens of letters from judges and experts praising the duo's legal acumen and courtroom skills.
