ROSEMARIE ARNOLD

We're a team, and we play to win.

ROSEMARIE ARNOLD AND HER TEAM OF PERSONAL INJURY lawyers are powerful advocates for victims of negligence. Known for both their sensitivity and their tenacity, these lawyers take the tough cases—and get tremendous results.

When a prominent New Jersey cardiologist, Dr. Henry Lau, suffered severe injuries after being hit by a car, he needed first-rate lawyers who would fight vigorously for his cause. Lau contacted Arnold and, following the arrest of the 20-year-old driver, he sued the apartment complex where the driver had been drinking alcohol at a party, and the doorman who allowed the party and under-age drinking to take place.

Arnold and her partners, Sheri A. Breen, Evan D. Baker and Natalie A. Zammiti Shaw, went to work. The case was precarious and success was a long shot, but Arnold and her team, along with co-counsel Joseph Tacopina, with whom she practices in New York, were undaunted. Four years of tireless effort paid off: This past November, a jury found the apartment complex, the doorman and the driver all liable, and awarded Lau and his wife $7.4 million.

"We were very lucky to have Rosemarie and her staff. They helped us through a very difficult time," says Lau. "Before the verdict we knew that, regardless of the outcome, Rosemarie and her team did an excellent job."

Arnold's firm is well known for its success in handling major cases like this one throughout New Jersey and New York City. Whether the claim involves a car accident, a slip and fall, a dog bite or a workplace injury, the firm provides compassionate and aggressive legal assistance to victims of catastrophic injuries and wrongful death.

A ferocious, brilliant and relentless attorney, Arnold's record and reputation have landed her on the New Jersey Super Lawyers® list every year since its inception. Called "a courtroom bulldog who won't be leashed" by the Bergen County Record, she is known for her formidable intelligence and unwavering diligence. Arnold fights hard, earning the respect of not only her clients, but of lawyers, judges and adversaries as well.

Above all, Arnold is utterly dedicated to her clients. She stands up for them when no one else will, and the walls of her office are papered with thank-you notes from clients grateful for, as one card reads, her "persistence, ethics, and above all, fighting spirit." But Arnold insists that she couldn't do it without the hard work and dedication of her partners and associates at the firm. "We are a team," she says, "and we play to win."
